HOW TO REACH NAPLES

By plane: The International Airport of Naples ‘Capodichino’ (www.gesac.it) is connected with the most important airports in Europe and with the International Airports of Rome (Fiumicino) and Milan (Malpensa and Linate). All the major companies have direct flights from most of the European capital cities to Naples.

By train: The main railway station in Naples is the Napoli Centrale/Piazza Garibaldi. Naples is connected with all the major Italian and European cities with fast trains called Frecciarossa .

By car: There is a fast highway connection with Rome (less than two hours) and the rest of Italy. The A1 “Autostrada del Sole” connects Naples from all the directions.

NAPLES

Naples is a fascinating city, rich in history, culture, art, nature and tradition. The territory was first colonised on the 9th century BC, almost 3000 years ago when “Anatolian and Achaean merchants and travellers arrived in the gulf, on their way to the rich mineral areas of the High Tyrrhene”, and founded Partenope in the area which includes the isle of Megaride (the present-day Castel dell’Ovo) and the Mount Echia Promontory (the present-day Monte di Dio and Pizzofalcone). Buildings, churches, streets, ancient fortresses and castles in the sea, as well as natural caves and places impregnated with mystery and mysticism, all of which makes Naples unforgettable in the minds of all travellers. Not only natural stages, but places symbolic of the city, an integral part of its history, of mythology and the legends that have touched it.
